

It would be insane to remove the cell phone ban on planes. People are already crammed so close and with some yakking away at less than a foot from your ear is going to raise issues. The ban should definitely remain in place.